INDUSTRIES AND ISSUES

Labor Relations

Extensive experience resolving labor disputes in both public and private sectors, including matters arising under collective bargaining agreements. Areas of focus include contract interpretation, just cause discipline, grievance and interest arbitration, seniority, scope of bargaining, past practice, and statutory overlay with the National Labor Relations Act (NLRA) and state public-sector labor relations laws.

Workplace Disputes, Statutory Claims, and Employment Policies

Experienced in a broad range of employment matters across unionized and non-unionized workplaces. Handles claims under Title VII, ADA, FMLA, FLSA, ADEA, ELCRA, and analogous state anti-discrimination statutes, as well as EEO regulations, WPA, MSPB proceedings, and tort claims based on public policy exceptions. Represents parties in disputes involving discrimination (disparate treatment and impact), harassment, retaliation, protected activity, at-will employment, wage and hour violations, employee classification, severance agreements, and unemployment compensation. Also well-versed in personnel policies, workplace investigations, covenants not to compete, and matters involving the ecclesiastical exception.

Cross-Border and Emerging Issues

Expertise with on cross-border labor and employment matters, including global workplace compliance, international discipline and termination, and transnational collective bargaining.

Focuses on the legal and ethical implications of AI in the workplace, particularly algorithmic bias, electronic surveillance, automated employment decision-making, and data privacy in workplace technology.

EMPLOYMENT

Lisa W. Timmons, PLLC, 2013 to Present

Former practicing attorney. Currently a full-time neutral serving as an arbitrator, mediator, and fact finder of labor, employment, commercial, and consumer disputes.

Executive Director & ADR Clerk of the Court, March 1998 to Present Mediation Tribunal Association, Detroit, Michigan

The Mediation Tribunal Association (MTA) is a not-for-profit agency that provides alternative dispute resolution services for civil and domestic relations cases in the Third Judicial Circuit Court of Michigan, the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, and several district courts within the county of Wayne. The Executive Director oversees the exempt employees, approximately 1500 attorney case evaluators, and 25 mediators. Administrative responsibilities include fiscal management, oversight of the agency investments, assets, tax reporting requirements, accounts payable and receivables, human resources, program design and implementation, communication with the judiciary, and interagency coordination with other legal agencies.

Mediator, USPS, REDRESS Program, 1999 to 2024

Mediated over 1500 EEO complaints between employees and management for the United States Postal Service.

Adjunct Faculty, May 2015 to August 2019

University of Detroit Mercy School of Law, Detroit, Michigan

Taught legal writing in both the required first-year program (Applied Legal Theory and Analysis), and the summer conditional enrollment program (Special Summer Program). The curriculum included brief writing, persuasive writing, conducting client interviews, moot court, research, and analysis.
